

70394543 # A Maine man killed his ex-girlfriend and her boyfriend so " no one else could have her, " according to a police affidavit. # Mark Penley, 49, was booked on two counts of murder in the deaths of Heather Bickford and her boyfriend, Dana Hill, who were found shot multiple times inside Bickford's apartment in South Paris on New Year's Day, the Bangor Daily News reports. # Police said Penley called 911 before officers found him at the residence holding the woman's infant and 8-year-old daughters on the couch, according to court documents released Friday during Penley's initial court appearance. # A blood-soaked baseball bat was also found inside the apartment, but a coroner ruled that Bickford and Hill, both 31, were killed by gunshots. # A police affidavit obtained by the newspaper also detailed statements made by Bickford's landlord -- who said Penley's ex wanted to be seen by a judge on New Year's Eve because he was allegedly following her. # The affidavit also detailed witness accounts of Penley's jealousy toward the couple, as well as his desire to kill Bickford so " no one else could have her. " # The Press Herald reports that Bickford ended her 10-year relationship with Penley last May, citing the Maine State Police affidavit